State Engineer
Salt Lake City, Utah

Dear Sir:

On the 25, of April, this year I went up Boul Creek to see about my water and I found a large dam had been put accross the natural channel of the creek and a deep cut about 300 feet long had been made to carry the water from the creek to a wash which leads in another direction from my ranch where I use my water for irrigation.

This was done by the citizens of Hanksville for the purpose of turning the flood waters from Boul Creek as it comes down through the town of Hanksville, they have made a tight dam and left no way for ~~the~~ water to come thru, will you please inform me what I should do about this? can I require these people to take the dam out or have them put in a suitable conduit through the dam to carry my water?

Yours very truly
